What Is a Self-Portrait?

A self-portrait is a beautiful picture that you draw of yourself. You are the artist, and you are also the star of the drawing! Long ago, famous Indian masters like Raja Ravi Varma painted exquisite portraits of people—and now you get to do the same thing using computer pixels!

There is absolutely no single "correct" way to look or to draw. Every portrait is valid because it belongs to you! For example, Riya might draw two long plaits tied with red ribbons, Chintu might add his favorite topi, Arjun can include his tilak, Meena might add a bright bindi, and Priya can design her favorite colorful pattu pavadai. Draw exactly what makes you, YOU!

Step-by-Step Guided Drawing

Let's follow these six easy steps together to build your portrait from scratch. Remember to work at a calm, deliberate pace.

Step 1

Draw Your Face Shape

Step 2

Add Eyes & Eyebrows

Switch to a dark brown or black shade from your palette. Before you draw, touch your own face—where are your eyes? Draw two small ovals or circles in the upper half of your face. Right above them, sketch two neat, arched lines to form your eyebrows.

Step 3

Add Nose & Mouth

Keep using your dark color to draw a small nose shape—it can be a little bump, a straight line, or a neat triangle right in the middle. Below your nose, draw a big, beautiful curved line going upwards to show off your happy smile! You can even add a flash of bright color for your lips.

Step 4

Add Ears & Neck

Pick your face skin-tone color once again. On the left and right sides of your face shape, draw two small rounded ears. Then, go right underneath your face and draw a short, sturdy rectangle block to hold up your head securely as your neck. Fun detail: You can use bright dots inside your ears to show off sparkling jhumkas or earrings!

Step 5

Add Your Hairstyle

Choose a rich black or brown tone for your hair. Think about how your hair feels today. Is it short, long, curly, or straight? Do you wear a pagdi/turban, a skull cap, a pony tail, or neat twin plaits with ribbons? Fill out your hairstyle over the top of your head with pride!

Step 6

Add Special Details!

This is where your drawing truly shines! Add your special signature features. Use a bright red dot for a bindi or tilak on your forehead. If you wear cool glasses, sketch two circles connected by a thin line over your eyes. Finally, explore the Magic Tool or add a Stamp to surround yourself with glowing stars and flowers!

Celebrate and Share

When your portrait is fully decorated, make sure to hit the Save button so your masterpiece stays perfectly preserved. Show your artwork proudly to your family and friends at home! Share with them the special detail that makes your self-portrait uniquely your own. Congratulations on being a phenomenal digital artist today!
