The Dream

A home means
family traditions

The Joy

A home means
lasting memories

Meet Asha and Ramesh's
grandparents. They always dreamed of owning their own home — a place to celebrate Diwali together with the whole family!

Owning a home is a special wish for many families in India. It's called
"House" — a place where memories are made and traditions are celebrated together.

How It Works

Pay monthly rent to the landlord

What You Pay

Security deposit (usually 2-10 months rent)

RENT

What Does Renting Mean?

Understanding the Basics of Renting a Home

Example: Living in a rented flat near a school in South Delhi. You pay ₹15,000 rent every month + security deposit upfront.

Highlight: Renting offers flexibility to move easily for jobs or studies!

How It Works

Down Payment + EMI
= Your Home

Example

Pride of Ownership
Forever

What Does Buying Mean?

Owning Your Own Home

Buying a 2BHK flat in a gated community in Pune means paying a down payment first, then monthly EMIs plus maintenance fees. You own it forever!

Renting

No ownership, but easy to move!

Buying

You own it, but it's a big commitment!

Understanding the Costs

Rent vs. EMI + Maintenance

RENTING COSTS

- ₹ Monthly Rent — Amount you pay the landlord each month to live in their home
- ₹ Security Deposit — A lump sum (usually 10 months rent) paid upfront, returned when you leave

BUYING COSTS

- ₹ EMI (Equated Monthly Installment) — Fixed amount you pay to the bank each month for your home loan
- ₹ Maintenance — Monthly fees for building upkeep, security, and common areas

Asset

Something you own that can grow in value over time

Expense

Money you pay regularly without gaining ownership

Asset or Expense?

What's the Difference?

Example: A flat in Mumbai bought for ₹50 lakhs may be worth ₹80 lakhs in 10 years!

Your home becomes more valuable.

Example: Paying ₹20,000 rent monthly in Bengaluru means ₹2.4 lakhs per year spent without owning anything.

Renting

Can you spot which option costs more or less?

Buying

Let's do the math together!

Rent Payment (1 Year):
 $\text{₹}15,000 \text{ rent} \times 12 \text{ months}$
 $= \text{₹}1,80,000 \text{ per year}$

This is money paid to the landlord for living in their home.

EMI + Maintenance (1 Year):

$\text{₹}12,000 \text{ EMI} \times 12 \text{ months} = \text{₹}1,44,000$

- $\text{₹}3,000 \text{ maintenance} \times 12 = \text{₹}36,000$
- Total: $\text{₹}1,80,000$

Pros and Cons of Renting

Understanding Both Sides

Pro 1

Flexibility to move easily for jobs or studies

Pro 2

No long-term financial commitment or EMI burden

Con 1

No ownership means no property appreciation benefits

Con 2

Security deposit can be high (often 10 months rent)

Renting has advantages and disadvantages.
Think about what matters most to your family when deciding where to live!

Is Owning a Home Right for You?

Pro 1

Own a valuable asset that may grow in value over time

Pro 2

Permanent home for Diwali, Holi and family traditions

Con 1

Requires large down payment and long-term EMIs

Con 2

Less flexibility to move quickly for jobs or studies

Buying a home is a big decision! You get ownership and pride, but it needs careful planning and a long-term commitment.

HomeAboutProjectContact

Renting

Flexibility & freedom
to relocate

Buying

Ownership & long-
term investment

If you want freedom to move easily for jobs or studies, renting may be the better choice for you right now!

If you want a permanent home and a valuable investment that grows over time, buying may be the better
choice for your family!

The Right Choice Depends on You
